Featuring Attorney Jeff Sankey, Founder, Sankey Law Offices & Gina McClellan, Special Education Advocacy of Massachusetts

Advocating for children in the special education system can be frustrating and overwhelming for parents. Over the past decade, attorney Jeffrey Sankey and special education advocate Gina McClellan have worked with hundreds of families through the special education process.

In their experience, they have found that the parents who are best able to navigate the intricacies of the special education process share a number of common traits, which we will explore during this session.

Topics covered will include:

Understanding key special education rules and regulations

Maintaining accurate and complete records

Facilitating productive relationships with school staff
